Holiday Notecards

These pretty notecards let your child express his creativity. They also make a welcome and useful gift.

What You Need:

Colored paper, pictures of items on one theme, glue, scissors, envelopes

Activity:

Demonstrate, and then invite your child to follow these steps to create his own set of notecards:

1. Fold a piece of colored paper in quarters. Check the envelope size. If needed, trim the card to fit the envelope.
2. Cut and glue on pictures.
3. Decorate the card by cutting around the edges. Cut a wavy edge or cut out little snips (optional).
4. If the cards are a gift, make a set of six or eight and tie them together with pretty ribbon or yarn. Be sure to include their envelopes.

Notecard Ideas:

Decorate with pictures of flowers, trucks, cats, dogs, horses, hearts, airplanes, herbs, cars, candy, paintings, clouds, insects, fish, birds, or whatever things your child loves.

Decorate with colored marker, yarn, snippets of colored paper, scraps of fabric, stickers, dried flowers, leaves, seeds, or grasses.

Example:

My daughter loves frogs; so one year I made her a set of frog notecards for Christmas. I cut out magazine pictures of vibrantly colored frogs, and put one large one on the front of each card and a tiny one inside. Sometimes I added a lizard or snake for variety. While Angela received these cards as a gift, she in turn made a set of colorful chicken cards for some friends who raise chickens.
