

After reading Kevin's article in People I was amazed at how a lot of the focus was on Britney their mother to sell a story for People magazine instead of the focus being on Kevin. What happened to Britney was a year ago and people need to get with the times. And as for Kevin saying Britney divorced him, she was forced to by her lawyers b/c she went to visit him in N.Y. and he wouldn't see her and the children and her lawyers said if she doesn't divorce him he's going to do it himself. So Kevin trying to play the innocent victim is hardly relevant. He left her and the babies, her going on the mend partying two years ago has nothing to do w/ the situation now. She is a completely different person and most of their fighting was done back then b/c of his problem waking and baking to marijuana at 5:00 in the morning. No one talks about these things b/c no one knows the truth. Her behavior when her children got taken away b/c of her locking herself in the bathroom is understandable considering ~~the~~ her friend at the door kept telling her the cops are leaving don't worry stay in the bathroom. She was lied to and set up. Her children were taken away and she did spin out of control which any mother would in those circumstances. Her next visit took a toll as well she wasn't listening to her manager - he lost control so he wanted to scare her. Now this year Britney has been silenced to speak about anything that's really going on. The people controlling her life have made 3 million dollars this year. ~~She would speak~~ ~~She would~~ She would love for new eyes to see her situation, but if she brings it up she's constantly threatened that the conservators will take her kids away.

so how long does this go on.
~~as~~ as long ~~as~~ ~~is~~ ~~the~~ ~~situation~~ & the people are getting paid & she has no rights it could go on for a while, but it doesn't make it right at all.
Everyone is very quick to put a gloomy eye on Britney. Does anyone talk about Janet Jackson giving her baby to her brother hopefully she won't do it with this child. ~~Britney~~ Britney ~~is~~ ~~given~~ given her brother a 2 million dollars apt. Her mother an estate in Louisiana and her ^{4m} father the best job in showbusiness. She a very giving person and would love to get the respect she deserves