1. P) For billions of years, DNA has served as life's information molecule, containing instructions for how and when to build the proteins of living organisms.

Q) But how long can that biological information survive?

R) The study, published last week in National Science Review, takes a close look at two juvenile skull bones from the hadrosaur Hypacrosaurus stebingeri, a plant-eating dinosaur that lived in what's now Montana about 75 million years ago.

S) In a provocative new study, an international team of researchers reveals dinosaur fossils that are so well preserved, some contain the outlines of cells and structures that might have formed from the dinosaurs' original DNA.

2. P) The difference is that the former will be given numerous chances, while the outsiders have to succeed with their early projects, otherwise even the few doors open to them start slamming hard on their faces.

Q) There continues to be a discrimination between the two types of film aspirants- young actors and directors from the Bandra-Juhu-filmi-kid circuit and those who come to Mumbai from other cities.

R) Unfortunately, the scenario remains largely unaltered.

S) When Bollywood acquired 'industry' status in May 1998 and the corporate studios got into the act, there was a belief that things would change.

- 3) P) Netflix-ing, now a general verb for watching content on the plethora of available OTT platforms, has become a more serious task than ever before.
- Q) But for many, their chosen form of entertainment also must reflect to some extent the current times we are living in.
- R) This explains the spurt in reported viewing of Hollywood movies such as Contagion or Virus.
- S) The endless curated lists of web series and movies to help you get through quarantine prove this.

- 4) P) US President Donald Trump has just signed into law a legislation that condemns human rights violations of Uighur Muslims in China's Xinjiang province.
- Q) This is a welcome move because China has incarcerated more than a million Uighurs in Xinjiang in its bid to Signify the minority ethnic community.
- R) India should openly support the US move and add its own condemnation of China's treatment of Uighurs.
- S) The Uighur Human Rights Policy Act, 2020 paves the way for imposing sanctions against senior Chinese officials.

5. P) The LAC lies east of the confluence of the Galwan and Shyok rivers in the valley, up to which both India and China have been patrolling in recent years.
- Q) After the June 15 clash, however, China has claimed the entire valley lies on its side of the LAC.
- R) Beijing is now saying the entire valley is on its side of the LAC, which pegs the line further west near the Shyok river. India has rejected the claim as "exaggerated and untenable".
- S) Since early May, China has been objecting to India's road construction activities at the western end of the valley, in the area between the Galwan-Shyok confluence and the LAC.

6. P) In Puntland, a region in Somalia east of Somaliland, gatekeepers at improvised displacement camps extort women for sexual favors in exchange for access to food and shelter.
- Q) Some men stay behind in their villages, others join the fighting in the civil war, so it mostly falls to the women to feed and raise the children.
- R) In the camps, women also live with new risks and fears: increased violence, including rape.
- S) Women make up the majority in the IDP camps in Somalia and Somaliland.

7. P) Suspicious looks are common, as is blatant fear of the virus.
- Q) My neighbors have gone from quiet and polite to silent and distant.
- R) I have been grounded.
- S) Four months ago, my life as I knew it and everyone else's lives, too-came to a screeching halt with the novel coronavirus outbreak.

8. P) Since we don't want to do that, we ride with the ego, and all those who ride with the ego will find peace sometimes, but most often, will be riddled with the negative qualities of the ego.
- Q) We will be annihilated, as we know ourselves.
- R) Because ego destruction is a costly process, which will destroy everything we are, everything we stand for.
- S) To find peace, we have to kill or destroy our ego, which we are often not aware of, or not willing to do.

9. P) Coverage of dry-ration distribution should expand because more and more people are likely to need safety-nets.

Q) But for now, monitoring India's changing nutrition risk profile in fast-shifting global reality is essential.

R) Health services to women who are pregnant, lactating, and children have to be prioritised.

S) In the post-Covid world, the Modi government should consider our Assam model for wider use.

10. P) These claims are not completely out of sync with our own National Family Health Surveys that show how between 2005 and 2015.

Q) These statistics also corroborate an embarrassment India faced last year when it slipped on the Global Hunger Index to occupy rank 102 out of the 117 countries rated.

R) These numbers are much higher than in other developing countries, where on an average 25 percent of children suffer stunting and 8.9 percent are victims of wasting.

S) In pre-pandemic times, the Global Nutrition Report 2020 found that 37.9 per cent of India's children under five years are stunted, and 20.8 percent are wasted, a form of malnutrition where children are too thin for their height.

11. P) Nehru was perhaps the first political leader of independent India to recognise yoga's potential in improving physical and mental wellbeing.
- Q) In Discovery of India, he wrote that yoga was a system of disciplining the body and mind.
- R) He further noted that it was suited to India because it fit in "with the spirit of her philosophy".
- S) In this book, he indicated his preference for yoga over other forms of exercise - "this old and typical Indian method of preserving bodily fitness is rather remarkable when one compares with more usual methods [of exercise]".

12. P) You believe that unhappiness is natural, it is your destiny, and you will have to suffer.
- Q) Do not lead yourself to believe that you are unhappy as a result of fruition of your past karmas.
- R) The result of putting your hand in fire is instantly felt, not after ten lives; likewise, the fruits of your actions are immediate.
- S) But it is your false belief that generates and maintains unhappiness.

13. P) As a family we took refuge in the process of slowing down and taking long walks outdoors as we noticed the fine details in things we take for granted.
- Q) In fact, we feel the days go by a lot slower than normal.
- R) That being said, it has been challenging.
- S) But nothing beats being around the closest people in my life-my wife and our children.
