On Hauz Khas Road, at the en-trance to the pedestrianised Hauz Khas Village, the guard (1) the barrier asks you to halt and directs (2) to the parking lot. It's 5 p.m. and the parking lot is nearly empty as shops are closed and there are (3) any shoppers.

There aren't many people on the lane leading to the (4) area either. This is unusual for HKV (as it is popularly known) (5) it is one of Delhi's popular shopping areas. Initially a hub for designer (6) the HKV experience (7) — a throbbing mix of cafes, art galleries, curio shops, gyms and, of course, fashion boutiques. The quirky neigh-bourhood was a hit (8) with youngsters and tourists for its happening nightlife. These days however, night comes hours (9) dusk at HKV as you can only see street dogs, security guards, a few takeaway joint managers and bored shop attendants (10) to reach home early.

The extraction of indigo dye involves harvesting the small, green leaves of the Indigofera plant before its flowers bloom. These leaves undergo a process of soaking in water and churning until a navy blue froth is released. The upper portion of the resulting mixture is drained for irrigation, while the leaves are repurposed as fertilizer. After allowing the water and fine sediment to settle for a day, the liquid is separated from the sediment. The obtained deep blue paste is then subjected to filtration to remove dirt and impurities, followed by compression into cakes and drying for several days. Once dried, the indigo is ready for use as a dye. Lime ($\text{Ca}(\text{OH})_2$) can be added to the initial water and leaves mixture, and various natural sugars can be dissolved into the paste to enhance the extraction process.

1. What is the overall tone of the passage?
