Magic the Networking

Last February, Game Grid in Lehi, along with several other local companies, teamed up to host the first Magic the Networking event. Our purpose was to create a casual and fun environment to bring people together to talk tech, recruit, and build networks. That event went so well, that we are doing it again, and this time, we would like to invite your company to join us!

Whether you are an individual trying to prepare for the future, a student trying to decide on a degree, or a company trying to find just the right fit, building your professional network is always valuable. At the Magic the Networking event, we will have Magic the Gathering drafts, D&D campaigns, and open board games, all centered around giving the players a chance to connect with other people who love tech. We invite you to join us and give the players a chance to talk with your company about what you do, opportunities you may have available, and build your network with them.

WHY NETWORK?

Looking to hire? Our last event had hundreds of participants, with many bringing resumes and actively looking. Not hiring now?   Things change frequently in business, it never hurts to introduce people to your company so they think of you the next time you are hiring . Looking to sell to other companies? Come meet other people and companies. There are many reasons to join!

HOW CAN WE PARTICIPATE?

There are three main ways a company can be a part of the event:
- Hold a booth at the event
- Add to the swag bags and/or raffle
- Be a part of the games

For each option, there is no charge from Game Grid to be a part of the event. We want the cost of this event for your company to be only the things that go directly to the participants!

COMPANY PARTICIPATION

BOOTHS

We will have room for 7-9 companies to hold booths. These are first come first serve. We will NOT be charging for these booths, but we do ask that if you hold a booth, please contribute a non-paper item to the swag bag.

SWAG

Each person who signs up for the event will get a swag bag full of things like dice, pens, or other branded items. If you want to add to the bags, we ask for a minimum of 200 items.

If you would like to donate a larger item to the raffle, each swag bag comes with a raffle ticket, and we will raffle items off throughout the day.

GAMES

During the event, we will hold Magic Drafts, D&D campaigns, and provide space for board games of all kinds. We encourage you to send players with your company logo visible. If you let us know you're coming we will include your company on a signature checklist card. Any person who gets a signature from each company on the card, will get a gift from Game Grid. Regular charges for each participant will apply.

This event has been a fantastic way for local companies and members of the tech community to connect, and we hope that as it grows, you can be a part of it. For further questions, email technetworkingandgames@gmail.com or staff@gglehi.com.
