

Introducing geoworx

geoworx is your ArcGIS Enterprise specialist, where every engagement is undertaken through an Enterprise Architecture lens. With Consultancy Services including requirements analysis, gap analysis, and data review, geoworx can also provide a Strategic Technical Roadmap, Design, Implement, and provide Health Check support along with planning and best practice for future upgrades. geoworx is an Esri Silver Business partner, with recent experience working directly within the Esri distributor community.

geoworx believes in considering the medium to long term state, when working in the current or next state. Esri follow patterns and practices, and these are indicators of the future. These can be used to provide strategic objectives allowing you to plan change in advance, and therefore de-risking the long-term management of your ArcGIS Enterprise deployment. geoworx has a commitment to being up to date with Esri technology by attending relevant Partner and Technical conferences. Knowledge gained there will be used to keep you abreast of Esri's direction. geoworx can therefore assist you with upgrading, migrating or replacing legacy technology and working practices.

The founder of geoworx is experienced, certificated and totally focussed upon Esri, but brings independent thought and guidance. He will bring deep Esri knowledge balanced against an education in geography. All activities are conducted not just in a consultative way, but also through the provision of mentoring services. geoworx strongly believes in growing not just your technical capabilities but also your knowledge. A full explanation of what geoworx does is not enough, you will also receive justification and reasoning of why that approach has been chosen. Community feedback shows mentoring is lacking in the NZ GIS community and geoworx is working towards meeting this requirement, putting strategies and relationships in place to address this.

Transparency, honesty, integrity and ethical business is part of the relationship that you can expect. The founder of geoworx has wide ranging experience from within customer and vendor organisations. He understands the pain of client vendor relationships and is committed to bringing a new engagement style to the New Zealand market.

geoworx is committed to quality partnering with its customers and providing excellence.
