

7 Reasons Why You Should Study Abroad in Shanghai

1. You get the best of both worlds

Shanghai's known as the most international city in China. So if you're looking for a more traditional study abroad experience but are studying Chinese or into Asian culture, then this is the place to go! If you're looking for something more traditional Chinese, there's plenty of that too.

2. Live luxuriously as a student

China is known for its cheap cheap prices! So while your friends might be going broke in Europe, you could be buying scrumptious, delicious meals every day for just a couple of dollars. Not to mention the markets where you can haggle down any price.

3. The air is clean(ish)

It's nice to take in a deep breath of clean air and see the sun once in a while. And Shanghai is definitely one of the cleaner cities in China.

4. You can walk everywhere

Shanghai is super walkable. Every part of town is close and connected.

Walking is definitely the best way to get to know the city and find your new favorite restaurant or park.

5. Dance in the park

The elderly population of Shanghai tend to spend a lot of time in the city' s many parks. Anytime of day, you' ll find playing mahjong, singing karaoke, practicing tai chi, even finding potential marriage matches for their kids. If you see people dancing, it' s always fun to join in!

Chinese park culture is unlike anything I' ve ever seen.

6. Improve your language skills

Shanghai is what you make it out to be. If you want to improve your Mandarin then you can definitely do that here. Make Chinese friends, haggle at the market, speak to the fruit stand lady in Mandarin. Since Shanghai is so international, so many natives now know English as well.

7. In 10 years, China will probably be completely different!

Just 20 years ago streets were filled with bikes in China, now it' s all cars! Shanghai is one of China' s (and the world' s) fastest developing cities. Come now, while this is all happening and don' t miss the more traditional parts of the city, because I can guarantee it will be a completely different city in 10, 20 years.
