Doris Flores Lujan House

The original 1918 house was built by Ignacio Cepeda Lujan who received the land property from his father, Jose Lujan. Ignacio and his wife Dolores Duenas Flores resided in the home and in 1938, deeded it their daughter, Maria Flores Lujan. The design of the house was known for its mamposteria stairway, ifil framing, and steep metal roof. Also an interesting architecture detail is the handcrafted curvilinear trim front awning.

The family recalls that during the Japanese Occupation of Guam, the house was used as one of the Japanese Command posts. In 1976, Doris Flores Lujan received the house from her mother, Maria Flores Lujan. Because of its architectural significance and association with historical events, the house was included as part of the Inarajan Village Historic Architectural District and was registered in the National Register of Historic Places in April 29, 1977.

In 2017 with the assistance of the Guam Preservation Trust, the Doris Flores Lujan House was reconstructed using the Secretary of Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties and other preservation technologies. The priority was to preserve the home and including its exterior spaces to withstand Guam's natural environment and ensure the longevity of this historical home.
